Texas-based room décor company Bugs-n-Blooms, LLC helps a family in need

Prosper, TX – {Enter Release Date} – Bugs-n-Blooms.com is excited to announce they were a proud participant of ABC's "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition", to help an inspirational family in Lyme, NH.

Six years ago Jay and Elena Marshall purchased what they thought was going to be their perfect home. Dreams for adding on to the home came to a halt after they discovered carbon monoxide leaks, mold and rotting wood. Before they could begin tackling the onslaught of problems with their home, their 9-year old son was diagnosed with Leukemia. Despite the mounting medical bills and the looming dangers within their home, the Marshall family came together and rallied their community behind their son's "Be Positive" campaign. The "Be Positive" campaign, named after Cameron's blood type, has already brought in around $40,000 for the Children's Hospital at Dartmouth and Leukemia awareness, including $3,500 Cameron raised on his own.

"It was an honor to be asked to supply my handcrafted items to this well-deserving family," says Jennifer DeVol, owner of Bugs-n-Blooms. "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition" provides safe and healthy homes for many families who face hardships but still find ways to help others, whether they be family or community members. We provided the show with approximately 35 pieces for their designers to choose from." DeVol adds, "It will be interesting to see how they use our products because they are so versatile. They can be hung on walls, from ceilings, used on lamps, bedposts and mirrors. Our products are lightweight, easy to pose and add color and sparkle to any little girls room."
